

WHO WE ARE

The Georgetown County Hurricane Project is an 18-month endeavor to preserve stories and memorabilia of past hurricanes, while preparing the populace of Georgetown County for storms of the future. The Hurricane Project is a joint effort of the Georgetown County Library and Emergency Management Division, using a grant from the International City/County Management Association.

We have a number of activities going on - read on and see if one might benefit you! If you have any questions at all, please call Project Manager Heather Pelham at the library, (843)545-3300.
